First-ever
End-of-life Care Plan

Why is end-of-life care a necessity in Kerala?

With a significant number of Keralites living outside the state, the number of aged people with close family members residing abroad are rising in Kerala. Besides, with increasing life expectancy, people are living longer, but with low quality of life. This necessitates the need for end-of-life care for the aged.

People falsely believe that they can care for the old and bed-ridden at home, with assistance from hired home nurses. Very often, the hired staff are untrained, and this leads to physical discomfort and trauma for the ailing family member and emotional and financial strain for the rest of the family.

Social stigma prevents people from availing the services of specialised care centres and instead rely on untrained home nurses. A professional end-of-life care facility ensures that the aged and the invalid spend the remainder of their days pain-free, in a comfortable and peaceful atmosphere. The aged and terminally ill requires 'Tender Loving Care' more than medicines and life saving equipments.

A NOTE FROM THE FOUNDER

Joseph Alex

(Founder & Managing Trustee of Signature Foundation)

I believe that the biggest blessing on earth, after birth, is a peaceful death. After leading fruitful lives, it's the right of every human to spend the rest of their days with happiness and die in peace with dignity.

But in the last stages of life, it's the people around who take decisions for you without caring for what you want. And these decisions are emotional rather than practical or rational.

The elderly are either left to the mercy of untrained home nurses or to agonising invasive 'life-saving' treatments at hospitals.

My philosophy is to add life to the days left rather than just adding the days!!

And that's the guiding principle behind Signature AgedCare.

Our experience led to the founding of the Vayogen Membership plan created to pre-secure the level of care in one's terminal or last stages in life. This program would be embraced by those who value life and believe in a peaceful and dignified end of life care. After all, who wouldn't like to 'End in peace to rest in peace'.

Come forward and support us on this noble cause as I intent repaying you in terms of service rather than as interest to the banks. We are registered as a public charitable trust and your money is absolutely in safe hands and we have succession plans in place too.
